

Candidate Statement: Hugh Bussell

Hugh Bussell is currently retired from Apple Computer as a contract Senior Technical Writer.

Hugh has managed international training organizations in the networking and chemical research software areas (Extreme Networks, Molecular Design, Ltd.) and has been responsible for generating revenue, solving logistical and customer issues, and communicating to a broad range of audiences. He was responsible for communicating to developers how to migrate their virtual-image based internal systems into the containerized, Kubernetes-based Apple private cloud environment.

Hugh received his bachelor's degree in Physics from the University of California at Berkeley and has continued to stay up-to-date with continuing education, earning the designations, Certified Credit Union Board (CCUB), and Certified Credit Union Supervisory Committee Member (CCUSC) from the national association for credit unions, America's Credit Unions.

While at Berkeley, he met his wife of 41 years, Gayle. They have three adult children, all college graduates.

Hugh has lived in Livermore for the last 23 years, and in Hayward for 17 years before that. Aside from volunteering his time to benefit various community organizations, he has served on the board of directors for InterFaith Housing, an organization that provides low-cost housing for senior citizens in Livermore.

Hugh believes that he can continue to faithfully serve and perform the duties as a Director of the Board due to his years of experience on the board, his experience in managing results-oriented organizations, handling his family's household finances, as well as being an active citizen of the community.
